SCHOOLS AGAIN OPEN IN COUNTY

Roads Clear of Drifted Snow; Many Other Ohio Areas Still Shut Off.

Many of Ohio's rural schools were still closed today as highway crews battled snow drifts reported in some sections to be six feet high.

In the Marion area all roads were clear and rural schools reopened. Schools also reopened in Crawford county, but at least two remained closed in Hardin county.

Only brief relief from winter's prolonged grip was indicated in a prediction that colder weather would arrive tomorrow night.

Schools Reopened In Marion County

All roads in the Marion county area were reported clear of snow drifts today and rural schools, closed yesterday, were reopened.

State and county highway crews were still working on many of the roads in the county and some were reported still icy in spots.

Marion County Engineer Walter W. Johnson said county road workers today were pushing the snow farther off the roads and widening traffic lanes. The county's two new Galion maintainers yesterday covered more than two-thirds of the county's north-south roads to clear them of drifts and four county trucks, equipped with snow plows, also worked throughout the day. The north-south roads in the northwestern part of the county were in worst condition, the county engineer said.

School Situation Better

County Superintendent D T Mills' office stated today it had no reports of schools closed today because of snowbound roads. Those closed yesterday included LaRue, Meeker, New Bloomington, Martel, Caledonia and Prospect.

Six schools in Crawford county, closed yesterday, also were reported open today. They were Leesville, Holmes Liberty, Whetstone, Sulphur Springs, New Washington and Tiro.

Two schools in Hardin county, Kenton High school and Hardin Central school, reported they would reopen tomorrow.

Many schools in other sections of Ohio were still closed today and in some sections six-foot drifts were reported.

Bus Off Road

Yesterday's hazardous driving conditions caused a Greyhound bus to slide into a ditch north of Bucyrus, although no one was injured. A truck load of hogs bound for a Cleveland market, was ditched yesterday south of Bucyrus and five hogs were killed. Sixteen other hogs were missing after the load was released to save the animals from suffocation.

Weather forecast was for rain or snow late tonight and Thursday and colder weather Thursday night. The temperature at noon had climbed to 30 degrees from this morning's low of 17. Yesterday's high was 34 degrees. Today's temperatures still were far below those of a year ago, when the mercury soared to 70.

Red Cross Campaign Report Due Tonight

The loyal army of Red Cross workers, who went on the job last Saturday to raise funds needed to relieve distress and to help service men and their community with all the practical things the organization provides, will hold their first report meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at campaign headquarters at 193 East Center street.

Today's sunshine provided an added urge to the workers to spend more hours canvassing the city and county and campaign heads are hoping for encouraging reports at tonight's meeting. Marion county's quota of the $60,000,000 national goal is $27,060.

"Give Where You Live," is the county slogan. The workers point out that this year there will be no solicitations made in factories, business places, stores, etc., but only in the homes and for that reason all contributions must be made to the workers who call at the homes. Management only, in factories and stores are contacted by the special committees assigned to that part of the campaign, the campaign heads state.

The end of the shooting war has brought no decrease in the responsibility of the Red Cross and its work for servicemen, for veterans and their dependents and for the civilian community is as essential as ever, Clarence Shockney, campaign chairman points out.

ENGINEER SUBMITS HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Hillman-Ford Project Up for State Approval.

Marion County Engineer Walter W. Johnson reported today he has submitted the county's first post-war aid project to the state highway department for approval.

The project includes two miles of reconstruction on the Hillman Ford road in the northwestern part of the county. Plans and estimates for the project were designed under government supervision. Estimated cost is $35,306, with the government to pay one-half the expense. Mr. Johnson said the cost estimate was higher than he had desired, but he had to accept the figure in order to receive government aid.

The plans and estimates have been approved by the county commissioners and the county engineer and after they are approved by the state highway department, that department will let the contract for the work. Supervision of the work, however, will be under the direction of the county engineer's office.

The county engineer is working on plans for a second post-war aid project, calling for the reconstruction of three and one-half miles of the LaRue-DeCliff road. Mr. Johnson said he hopes to have the plans finished in two weeks. Both projects are to be completed this year, he said.

Neighbors' Snow Plows Win Race with Stork

By The Associated Press

ERIE, Pa., March 5—Marooned in her suburban Fairview home by 15-foot snow drifts, a 26-year-old expectant mother was rescued by neighbors who cleared a path to her door with five farm tractors. Then, bundled in blankets, the tractors sped Mrs. Ida Losey to a waiting automobile, which took her to Erie hospital yesterday. An hour later she gave birth to a son, her second child.

Truman To Fly Over Volcano

President Plays Role of Tourist as Mexicans Lay Out Routes.

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, March 5—President Truman—playing to the hilt his role of a tireless and enthusiastic American tourist—ordered out the "Sacred Cow" for a flight over a volcano today as his three-day good will visit to Mexico drew to a close.

The President, hailed by President Miguel Aleman of Mexico last night as "the new champion" of hemispheric solidarity, also arranged for a motor trip to the Pyramids of the Sun and Moon at San Juan Teotihuacan after inspecting Paricutin volcano from the air.

He will wind up his official visit tonight at a private dinner with Aleman. Tomorrow he will fly to Waco, Texas, where he is to deliver a 25-minute foreign economic policy speech at Baylor university before returning to Washington tomorrow night.

The visit of the two presidents at a colorful fiesta at the National stadium yesterday was marred when two persons—a 19-year-old woman and an eight-year-old child—were killed and four hurt in the crush of the crowd trying to catch a glimpse of Truman and Aleman.

Fifty-six children were separated from their parents as a capacity throng of 15,000 persons squeezed into the stadium for the festival.

Aleman declared yesterday at a luncheon that the Truman visit is going "to promote a better understanding and friendship between our two countries." Aleman is scheduled to return the visit next month.

Six Completed Housing Units At Park Turned Over To City

Mayor Harry L. Dowler today accepted possession of the first six completed units at the veterans housing project west of Lincoln Park.

Families will begin moving in tomorrow, it was indicated by city officials.

More of the units are expected to be ready by Monday, according to Clarence Taylor, representative of Lloyds Builders, contractors.

C. S. Waugh represented the Federal Public Housing Administration in acceptance of the units from the contractor.

The project, begun several months ago and plagued by shortages of materials, will contain when completed 30 housing units for veterans families. Priorities have already been established on the basis of housing distress as laid down by FPHA regulations.

In establishing priorities for selecting occupants the number of children and adults in a family is considered, as is the adequacy and desirability of present living quarters. The FPHA sets up a considerably rigid method by which such inspections are made, city officials said.

CITY EMPLOYS ENGINEERS TO PLAN AIRPORT

Chicago Concern To Start Preliminary Work at Site Immediately.

Employment of a firm of airport engineers to plan and oversee construction of the proposed municipal airport was announced today by Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher.

The firm is Clark, Hickey and Co., Inc., of Chicago, with branch offices in Columbus.

The contract between the company and the city was approved yesterday by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Ohio Aviation Board.

To Start at Once

The engineers will go ahead immediately with preliminary engineering work on the 644-acre tract on former Scioto Ordnance plant land, Uncapher said. The preliminary work will consist of topographical survey, laying out of buildings and runways, and drawing up of a master plan for development of the port. This work must, according to the contract, be finished by May 31 this year. The city, in accordance with the federal airport act, will furnish payment for this work, which will amount to $6,592.

When the preliminary surveys are finished, bids will be let for construction work. Contracts will probably be awarded in June, according to Uncapher. The engineering firm will then supervise construction. Their fee will amount to one-and-three-quarters per cent of construction costs.

Next Step in Program

Application for actual grant of federal funds may not be made by the city until preliminary engineering work is finished and contracts for construction are ready to be let.

The CAA announced in February a tentative allocation to Marion of $246,500. The city has available $400,000 from the airport bond issue passed in the general election of 1945.

GAMBLER TELLS OF BETTING FOR STARS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 5—Alvin J. Paris, 28, convicted of attempting to bribe Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock, New York Giants backfield start, to throw a title professional grid game, testified in general sessions court that he gave each $500 as winnings on bets he placed for them on an earlier game.

Paris took the stand yesterday as the state's star witness in the trial of three men accused of "counseling and commanding" him in the attempted bribery. They are David (Pete) Krakauer, 44; Jerome Zarowitz, 32, and Harvey Stemmer, 36, who is serving a term for bribing Brooklyn college basketball players.

Stemmer suggested, Paris said, that he have Krakauer place bets "for the boys" on the Giants in their game last Dec. 8 with the Washington Redskins. The Giants won, 31 to 0.

Paris said he, Stemmer and Krakauer had bet $1,550 on the game.

Paris was convicted of attempting to bribe Hapes and Filchock to lay down in the Giants' championship game with the Chicago Bears on Dec. 15, which the Bears won 24 to 14. He is awaiting sentence.

Stop Feeding Communists Cong. Smith Tells House

The way to stop the spread of world-communism, Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion told his house colleagues yesterday, is to "stop feeding and pampering them." The Associated Press reported in a dispatch from Washington.

Mr. Smith said if that was done, Communists would "go to work and start on the way to sanity." His remarks came in protest to an administration plan to help Britain carry out her obligations in Greece.

"Even should the United States by military force hold intact the British empire," Smith said, "England under her Socialist system could not possibly maintain it."

Substitute School Subsidies Bill Ready for Senate Vote

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—A substitute Daniels-Cramer bill increasing state subsidies to schools by $26,000,000 to a total of $85,000,000 a year was readied today for submission to the senate for a vote.

Senate education committee members who approved a $15,000,000 slash in the measure, originally drawn to give schools $100,000,000 annually, said so many changes had been approved that a new bill was necessary.

The committee without a dissenting vote recommended passage of the bill, including a series of amendments by Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland), co-sponsor of the measure with Sen. Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas), committee chairman.

The amendments were submitted late yesterday after a blistering attack on the bill—the first in five hearings—by representatives of the Ohio inter-organization conference composed of 52 business and industrial groups.

Cut Per Pupil Grants

The $15,000,000 reduction was accomplished mainly by cutting per pupil grants and eliminating a provision for state expenditure of some $3,000,000 annually for school buses which now are bought by the districts.

Other approved changes in the original measure would:

Increase the minimum property tax for districts to share in school foundation program funds from the present 3 mills to 4.5 mills. The bill originally proposed 4 mills.

Grant high schools with fewer than 180 pupils additional state aid based on the number of students, compared with the originally proposed 220.

Eliminate guarantees for one and two-teacher schools.

Tighten requirements that districts pay teachers full salaries to which they are entitled under school law. The statute requires districts to pay 75 per cent of their program guarantee, exclusive of tuition and transportation, for teachers' salaries.

Daniels said boards of education would be required to file teacher salary lists with the state school superintendent.

Advocates Direct Appropriation

Appropriations direct to teachers to boost salaries were advocated by David H. Sutton, research director of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council, a private organization, and Arch D. Schultz of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, both inter-organization spokesmen.

They criticized the Daniels-Cramer bill as extravagant and contended less than half the rural, exempted village and city elementary teachers could meet requirements for a $2,000 minimum annual salary under it.

Undisturbed from the original bill was the requirement that teachers hold a bachelor degree and a four-year provisional certificate to qualify for $2,000 minimum salaries.

Also unchanged was a shift for the basis of school distributions from average daily attendance (ada) of pupils to average daily membership (adm), or enrollment, which Sutton said would increase costs 8 per cent.

Grants Increased

As revised, flat grants would be increased from $45 (ada) to $55 (adm) for each elementary pupil and from $54 (ada) to $66 (adm) for each high school student. The bill originally proposed tops of $60 and $72, respectively.

Equalization grants would be upped from $67.50 (ada) to $105 (adm) for elementary pupils and from $81 (ada) to $125 (adm) for high school students. The originally proposed highs were $109 and $131 respectively.

Kindergarten pupil grants would

7 BOYS HELD IN THEFT WAVE

Series of Burglaries and Pilferings Believed Solved by Arrests.

Clearing up of at least seven store burglaries and numerous automobile pilferings was believed accomplished by police with filing of theft charges against seven Marion boys, aged 13 to 16, today in juvenile court.

Police Captain E. C. Mackan said all seven of the boys have admitted taking part in the thefts. They belonged he said, to two separate gangs, and the running-down yesterday of the two groups was unrelated.

Two Caught

Four of the boys were brought in yesterday after two of them were allegedly caught fleeing from a break-in at Williams Grocery store at 546 Ballentine avenue Monday at 11:30 p. m. Police at that time received a call that the store was being broken into. A cruiser shortly afterward apprehended two boys, on stolen bicycles and armed with stolen revolvers, one of which was taken from the store. They admitted breaking into the store, police said, and later admitted burglarizing three other places during the last few months. They implicated two other boys.

Places said by police to have been broken into by this group of boys are Hodges Electric shop in February, Grubers Market in December and the Short Street market in January. The boys, police asserted, said they threw some of the loot in Crystal lake and sold some of it. Much, however, was recovered at their homes, police said, including a $300 camera stolen recently from the car of R. E. Wolbert.

Three of the boys in the other gang were brought in yesterday, Mackan said, after recovery of allegedly stolen merchandise they had sold. Places this group is said to have admitted burglarizing are Shaffner Furniture storeroom at 184 South Main street, twice in September; United Electric Co. in October and Brown Radio Shop in November. Some of this merchandise has been recovered.

Five of the boys have police records. All seven are being held at the county juvenile detention home.

The automobile went into the shallow water after plunging over a 30-foot embankment. A passerby saw the girl's hand waving from a window of the car.

School Delegation From Marion Co. At State Hearing

A group of approximately 25 Marion county school teachers, board members and clerks, attended a public hearing of the Ohio senate educational committee in Columbus yesterday and heard the committee recommend a slash of $22,500,000 from the Daniels-Cramer school subsidy bill.

The Marion county group was headed by Edward Howell of Caledonia. Before the senate hearing they talked with Senator David Liggett, whom they said appeared to favor legislation for substantial increases in subsidies for public schools.

The county group decided to attend the hearing after they voted Monday night to postpone indefinitely a full-scale march by Marion county teachers to the Ohio capital to urge passage of legislation for additional state funds for schools.

A spokesman for the county teachers said today no further teachers meetings to discuss state aid legislation have been scheduled.

Rent Increase Gets Approval

Senate Sub-Committee O.K.'s 10 Per Cent Boost, 3 to 2.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5—Legislation allowing a general 10 per cent increase in rents was approved 3 to 2 today by a senate banking sub-committee.

Senator Buck (R-Del), chairman of the subcommittee, told reporters the full banking committee probably will consider the proposal tomorrow.

Buck and Republican Senators Cain of Washington and Bricker of Ohio voted for the rent bill while two Democrats opposed it, Sparkman of Alabama and Taylor of Idaho.

The measure would continue rent controls through this year, but take their enforcement from OPA and give it to the national housing agency.

Republican leaders are aiming at winding up OPA's life June 30.

Up in the senate today is a bill giving it a death sentence than and a $17,000,000 appropriation with which to close out its activities.

The fund is provided in a $180,966,231 appropriation measure which Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), of the Republican senate policy committee said would be dealt with during the day.

It amounts to a stay of execution recommended by the senate appropriations committee, since the house previously had voted to lop $9,000,000 off OPA's appropriation for the current fiscal year and give it no new appropriation.

PAY BOOST SETTLES EXCHANGE WALKOUT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 5—A wage agreement boosting weekly salaries $6 to $25 and giving clerical workers a bonus when daily trading exceeds $250,000 permitted reopening today of the New York Cotton exchange after a one-day strike.

The exchange, where $45,000,000 worth of cotton frequently changes hands daily, was struck by 50 maintenance employes and 50 to 60 clerical employes an hour before opening time yesterday. Engineers and firemen refused to cross the picket lines, and more than 600 members of the Seafarers International Union (AFL) joined the picket lines.

Arthur S. Meyer, chairman of the New York state mediation board, announced shortly before midnight that exchange officials had reached an agreement with Local 205, Office Employes International Union (AFL).

A new contract, retroactive to last Monday and expiring Jan. 31 1948, provided wage increases running from $6 a week for supervisors. In addition, clerical workers will receive "profit sharing compensation" when daily trading exceeds $250,000.

Pashby's Condition Shows Little Change

The accident, in which six members of Pashby's family group, all of Michigan, were killed, occurred when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a northbound New York Central passenger train at the Route 42 crossing in Cardington.

HOPEFUL ON AUSTRIA; GLUM ON GERMANY

States Negotiations Will Be "Difficult," Consequences "Momentous."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5—Secretary of State Marshall left today for the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Moscow, openly expressing doubt that a peace treaty for Germany can be written there.

He forecast success, however, for a second aim of the momentous gathering—the drafting of a peace agreement for Austria.

Preliminary talks have laid the groundwork for an Austrian accord; but Marshall said the Big Four—France, Russia, Great Britain and the United States—are still in disagreement on the fundamentals of a German treaty.

This preview of the Moscow meeting was given reporters just before Marshall's plane took off at 9:11 a. m. The secretary added in a dictated statement:

"If we are successful in reaching agreements on major fundamental principles I would be very much pleased."

In any event, Marshall said, he is conscious that the negotiations will be "extremely difficult and their consequences momentous."

Several top government officials, including Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson and Treasury Secretary Snyder, were at the airport to see Marshall off on his most important undertaking since he took over the nation's top diplomatic post.

Marshall was accompanied by Benjamin B. Cohen, state department councilor and Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen, Russian expert and interpreter.

A second plane carried several top advisors including John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign affairs expert.

Aboard a third plane in the party were eleven news and radio correspondents.

Different on German Pact

Marshall told reporters that deputies of the Big Four foreign ministers already had made progress in drawing up a treaty for Austria, but he said the situation on the German pact is "quite different."

Still at issue, he emphasized, are the "great fundamentals" which will serve as a basis for a German treaty draft.

"If we are successful in reaching agreements on major fundamental principles I would be very much pleased," he added.

In a subsequent statement for newsreels, Marshall said "we owe a great responsibility to the American people in the endeavor to secure peace."

The secretary planned to stop tomorrow in Paris for an overnight visit with President Vincent Auriol of France. This will give him an opportunity to get French views on many issues involving the future of Germany.

Berlin Conference Set

From Paris, he arranged to go to Berlin for a conference with U. S. occupation authorities. He is scheduled to stay there Friday night and possibly Saturday.

This would put him in Moscow one day ahead of the first formal meeting with the foreign ministers of France, Russia and Great Britain next Monday.

With the problem of peace terms for Germany and Austria demanding his immediate attention at the Big Four ministers conference, Marshall left for President Truman the momentous foreign policy decision on how far America shall go in upholding nations it believes peace loving and intend to follow the democratic way of life.

War-broken Greece presented the immediate test—whether to pit American dollars against Russian Communism now that Britain no longer is able to bolster that country's tottering regime.

Marshall himself termed the problem "transcendent," and Greece in her plea for help said she must have it to "survive."

The crisis boiled up at a time that seemed to weaken the soldier-diplomat's hand at almost the last minute.

Congress Contributes Bit

Nor was a sudden new succession of congressional blasts at Soviet actions and intentions calculated by diplomatic authorities here to make the cabinet officer's task any easier when he meets Russian Foreign Minister Molotov across the Big Four conference table next Monday.

The flurry of criticism directed at Russia in the house yesterday brought demands for an end to this country's "coddling policy" and for economic sanctions in the

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text: "And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat: but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren." Luke 22: 31-32.

WE FIND that backsliding is never a sudden descent from real spirituality to open sin. It is a gradual process, even as growth in grace is that which goes on day by day as one walks in the Lord.

The word backsliding is not found in the New Testament. We have many warnings against drifting from experiences once attained, and Peter's case is a solemn example of backsliding, and shows us how one wrong state or attitude leads to another, until at last one may fall into grave evil-doing and so bring great dishonor upon the name of the Lord whom we profess to love.

Peter's backsliding seems to have begun when he tried to rebuke Jesus, who had just declared the necessity of going to the cross (Matt. 16:21-23). It seems that Peter had spiritual pride following the Saviour's commendation because of Peter's great declaration as to the true nature of His glorious Person. Since rebuked, we do not read of any confession on Peter's part, and sin unjudged leads to something worse as time goes on.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Itching of the Skin

THE skin often reveals an individual's emotional state. Thus, embarrassment may cause blushing. On the other hand, those in the grip of fear may become very pale and those who are under the prolonged nerve tension known as anxiety, may sweat excessively.

According to Dr. Henry MacCormac and his co-workers of England, anxiety can in some instances also cause severe itching of the skin. Persistent itching creates an almost irresistible desire to scratch and this scratching injures the skin surface and often brings about serious infections.

Certain skin disorders also cause itching and irritation but in most cases where the trouble is on a purely physical basis, local treatment can be employed to get rid of the conidtion. On the other hand, itching due to psychologic difficulties requires the services of a specialist in nervous affilictions.

If the urge to scratch can be abolished for a time, a cure may result. In order to do this Dr. MacCormac and his coworkers carried out treatment on a number of patients by giving them sedative or nerve depressing drugs by injection into a vein.

The treatment was given daily for a week. Under this treatment, the patients remained asleep for 20 hours out of each 24 over a period of about 10 days.

Seventeen patients were treated. Of these five were judged to be psychologically normal. The treatment was found effective in controlling the itching and scratching as well as the anxiety present in these patients. Most of them were completely relieved. No attempt was made to treat the condition in other ways except perhaps by the use of local preparations.

In the patients treated, the itching of the skin in most instances had been present over long periods of time. In one case it was present for 38 years.

The treatment used is not such as would be employed except in severe cases of this disorder which could not be relieved in any other way. It requires hospitalization and constant nursing. To produce the desired results, it is necessary to secure sound, peaceful sleep over a sufficiently long period of time.

All of these things make it imperative that such treatment as this be entrusted only to expert hands, and that it be used only after simpler methods have failed.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Filing the 1040 Long-Form

This is the ninth of 12 stories explaining who must do what about filing his income tax return.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 5—Figuring your income tax on the 1040 long-form is a little different from last year.

Last year you had to figure separately your normal tax and your surtax and then add them to get the total tax due.

James Marlow

This year, for purposes of figuring tax, the normal tax and the surtax have been combined into one.

What you do now can be told simply in four main steps:

1. From your total income, you deduct your expenses.
2. From what's left, you deduct your exemptions.
3. From what's left, you apply the combined normal tax and surtax.
4. Then you deduct 5 per cent from the amount of tax. What's left is the full tax you owe.

If your income was $5,000 or more, you can take the $500 standard deduction allowed every one for personal expenses. You don't itemize.

Must Itemize Deductions

If your deductions were more than $500, you can claim them but must itemize them on Page 3 of the long-form.

People — with less than $5,000 income — who use the 1040 long-form must itemize their deductions on Page 3. They can't take the standard $500 deduction.

Here's how to fill out the long-form, using an average person. Before you start, have beside you the government's instruction sheet which goes with the long-form.

You, married, had two children. Your only 1946 income was $8,000 salary. Turn to Page 3 of the long-form where it says "tax computation."

Line 1 — Write your income, $8,000. Line 2—Write your standard deduction, $500. Subtract the $500 from the $8,000 and write the result, $7,500 on Line 3.

Write Total Exemption

Line 4—Write $2,000, your total exemptions, since they were $500 each for yourself, wife, and two children. Subtract that from the $7,500 on Line 3 and write the result, $5,500, on Line 5.

(That $5,500 is your taxable income. It's the income you have left after subtracting your deductions and exemptions from your $8,000 income.)

Turn to the instruction sheet, to the tax-table on the bottom of Page 4. Your taxable $5,500 will be in the line where it says "over $4,000 but not over $6,000."

Right across from that bracket you see that the tax on the first $4,000 of your taxable $5,500 is $840, plus 26 per cent of the remaining $1,500, or $390.

Still Another Step

Adding the $390 to the $840, you write the total tax, $1,230, on Line 6, Page 4 of the long-form. But that isn't the tax you have to pay. There's another step.

You take 5 per cent of that $1,230 — it's $61.50 — and write the $61.50 on Line 7. Subtract the $61.50 from the $1,230 on Line 6 and write the result, $1,168.50 on Line 8.

That $1,168.50 is your total tax, the tax you must pay. But there are a few more steps.

During 1946 you had had some raises which brought your total salary to $8,000. Those raises upset the total tax you had figured — at the beginning of the 1946—you'd owe for the whole year.

Your boss in 1946 had withheld—say—$900 in taxes from your salary.

Paid Quarterly Installments

And in 1946 you had paid in quarterly installments $100 on the full tax you estimated, back at the beginning of 1946, you'd owe for the year.

So in 1946 you had paid the government $1,000 in taxes—$900 withheld and $100 in estimated payments—but now you find your full tax, because of the raises, is $1,168.50.

So turn to Page 1 of the long-form and on Line 7 you enter your total tax, $1,168.50. Under that, on the proper lines, you write the $900 tax withheld from you and the $100 estimated tax you paid.

Subtracting that $1,000 tax already paid from the full tax, $1,168.50, you write $168.50, the tax still owed, on Line 9.

You must pay that $168.50 in full when you file your return, in person or by mail.

You're through except for answering the rest of the very simple questions on Page 1. Keep a duplicate copy of the return, in case you have to refer to it some time.

Next: Questions about husband and wife filing.

Tri-County Ditch Board Formed for Project

A tri-county board to consider a petition for deepening, widening and straightening the Swamp Run ditch, known also as the Tri-County Pletcher ditch in Morrow, Crawford and Marion counties was formed when commissioners of the three counties met in the courthouse here Tuesday.

William Risch, chairman of the Marion county board of commissioners, was named chairman of the tri-county board. Harry V. Mounts was elected to serve as clerk.

Nutrition Classes Of Red Cross Help Food Standards

This is one of a series of stories telling about some of the services of the Marion county chapter of the American Red Cross. The series is published to aid in Marion county's part in the annual fund campaign. Sixty-five per cent of the contribution will remain in Marion county to carry on the chapter's work.

America is becoming more nutrition conscious through education programs and classes arranged and conducted by Red Cross nutrition committees. These courses emphasize the basic principles of good nutrition and their practical application to everyday meals.

Such a class was organized for students at Harding High school and was instructed by Miss Pauline Stannard. Seven persons were certified upon completion of this course.

Through the cooperation of the home service committee a class also was organized for foreign war brides who have come to America to set up homes. This class has not only provided these girls with a means of becoming better acquainted with their new surroundings, but also teaches them how to plan nutritious meals prepared the American way.

The nutrition committee cooperated during the famine emergency campaign in supplying and testing recipes which would help to conserve much needed wheat and fats, and making these recipes available to the public.

Moose Lodge Receives Applications from 5

Five applications for membership were approved at a meeting of Marion Lodge [illegible], Loyal Order of Moose, held Monday night in the Moose hall on South State street.

Plans also were made for the initiation of a class of candidates Monday night with a degree team from the Delaware Moose lodge in charge, and for a stag fish fry tonight for members and prospective candidates.

It was announced that Moose members lost the first in a series of euchre games to the Women of the Moose. Second game will be played March 12. The first in a series of euchre games with the Eagles lodge will be held March 13 with Moose members serving the refreshments.

Plans were discussed for bringing the Mills Brothers circus here April 24. Money derived from the circus will be used for the lodge building fund, Mooseheart, and for Marion underprivileged children.

A communication from the executive council of the grand lodge was read stating that in the current membership drive which ends April 1, $25,000 will be donated to the national council of the Boy Scouts of America if the lodge quota is reached.

11 MORE INDICTED IN COUNTERFEITING RING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 5 — Eleven more men, among them four described by a prosecuting attorney as ringleaders, of a vast black market sugar ring, were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on charges of illegally possessing and transferring counterfeit sugar stamps.

Fifty-two persons have been indicted in the case here within the last few days.

The investigation "is continuing and more indictments are coming," said Raymond McClory, assistant U. S. district attorney. He declared the ring had diverted more than 10,000,000 pounds of sugar into illicit channels and that its operations were nationwide.

McClory identified as the ringleaders in the gang James "Big Jim" Winters, 35; Robert "The Mole" Bailey, 30; Auda "Abe" Miller, 48, and Yancey Bridgeforth, 44, a Negro.

Winters, Miller and Bridgeforth were indicted previously on other counts.

WEST VIRGINIA WOMAN FOUND DEAD UNDER HOUSE

Husband Finds Her Absent After Snow-Clearing Job.

By The Associated Press

BRUCETON MILLS, W. Va. March 5—Prosecutor R. Doyne Halbritter reported today the discovery of a 22-year-old woman's body under a house in the snowbound village of Centenary and state road commission snowplows cleared a path through giant drifts to admit investigating officers.

Halbritter said he received a telephone call that Playford Livengood had found the body of his wife, Edra.

The prosecutor said Livengood left the house yesterday afternoon in an attempt to clear a section of the snow-blocked roadway, and returned to find Mrs. Livengood absent, although the woman's boots and winter clothing were in the house. A search turned up her body, partially covered with leaves, dirt and pieces of lumber, under the cellarless house.

Halbritter said two shotguns hanging on the wall of the house had been fired recently.

The dead woman's brother Sherill Martin, 27, was sought for questioning, Halbritter said.

HARDIN COUNTY SHERIFF CHECKING ADA HOLDUP

States Bandits May Be Connected With Indiana Incident.

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 5—Sheriff R. R. Clark, still investigating the hold-up of the Forest inn near Ada Sunday, stated today he believes the group may have been the same one that was reported over police radio here to have held up an establishment at Connersville, Ind., seven or eight hours later.

Sheriff Clark also stated a 22-caliber bullet had been recovered from the floor of the Forest inn and is thought to have been the bullet which wounded Harold Rambo of Ada, a customer of the tavern at the time the five masked men held it up and fired an estimated 12 times after a customer threw a beer bottle at the bandits.

Several guns and a quantity of .22 caliber ammunition was stolen recently from a Kenton sports store and also from an Upper Sandusky store, according to the sheriff.

SWIMMING POOL FOR KENTON AUTHORIZED

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 5—Kenton city council passed a resolution Tuesday evening asking that a bond issue of $100,000 for the building of a swimming pool for Kenton be submitted to the voters at the special election on May 6.

The resolution will be certified over to the Hardin county auditor for determining millage and then to the county board of elections for placing on the ballot. Authorities estimated the millage would be in the neighborhood of one mill outside the 10-mill limitation.

The pool which has been planned would be of the Olympic type, 165 by 75 feet in dimensions with a separate diving area. It is believed there are only seven pools of this type in the United States at present. The pool would be approved for A.A.U. meets as planned. Maximum capacity of the pool would be 900 swimmers with an average load capacity of 300.

RESINOL OINTMENT AND SOAP

PARENTS ENTER OHIO TEACHER-PUPIL TIFF

By The Associated Press

LORAIN, O., March 5 — The parents of school children of nearby Clearview will be asked tonight to give their opinions in the situation which resulted in the mass resignation of 21 teachers.

The meeting was called by the Clearview Parent-Teachers association.

The school board conferred for two hours last night with the teachers and announced refusal to accept the resignations. The resignations were given at a school assembly called to settle a student strike which developed last Thursday after a boy had been slapped. When boos and catcalls by some of the students interrupted the meeting, the teachers announced their resignations.

The teachers declared that the attitude of both the parents and their children had made it impossible for the teaching staff to do effective work.

A letter presented to the board by the teachers stated "the school is a public institution and neither the school nor the teachers have been given the proper respect that they should have received from the community."

The board announced it "hoped for an early settlement of this trouble," but Board Chairman Chandler Thompson said "I have no idea when the schools will reopen."

Americans See Conference As Possible Preparation for War

(John M. Hightower, ace reporter of state department affairs, is en route to Moscow to cover the 4-power conference for The Associated Press.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Writer

STOCKHOLM, March 5—American officials hope the Moscow conference will produce a real working agreement among the Big Four powers to make vanquished Germany unified and productive but harmless for generations, but there is no certainty among them that it can be done.

One of the greatest diplomatic speculations is whether a German settlement actually will be based on peacemaking for the last war or as preparations for the next one. Certainly, negotiation of the German treaty cannot be separated from the broader problem of relations between Russia and the west, which appear about as bad in this preconference period as at any time since the end of the war.

HIGHTOWER

That Secretary of State Marshall, facing his first real test is one of history's toughest jobs, will deal hard-handedly with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov seems foregone. That is the significance of his decision to take John Foster Dulles as Republican adviser and of his outright support for Undersecretary Dean Acheson's charge that Russia follows an aggressive and expansionist policy.

Basis of Policy

Acheson's statement thus becomes indirectly the basis of official policy preliminary to the Moscow meeting and means that American officials frankly expect the Russians to maneuver for control or domination of Germany along with as much else of Europe and the world as they can get and that the United States intends to try to block them at every turn.

Authoritative signs show this picture of Marshall's objectives at Moscow:

1. He will seek agreement on principles for a new Germany economically sound but militarily powerless and ruled by a federal government with limited powers. The greatest point of conflict with Russia is that the United States thinks the Allied powers must soon wind up their reparations demands on Germany and decide finally what industrial production shall be allowed. The Russians are demanding that Germany continue reparations out of current production for many years. The Russians also appear to want a strongly centralized Berlin in control of all Germany. Many diplomats say their aim is to centralize power for easier capture and control by German communists.

Wants Immediate Application

2. If agreement is obtained, the United States would like to see it applied at once to the currently hamstrung four-power administration in Berlin as well as to detailed writing of the peace treaty. The expectation is that after the Moscow conference the deputy foreign ministers will return to London and work for months in writing the treaty.

3. A peace settlement for Austria is one of the chief aims at Moscow. It would mean removal of British, French, American and Russian occupation troops from Austria and consequent withdrawal of Soviet supporting troops from Hungary and Romania. The United States and Britain regard Austria as a liberated power, while the Soviets view her as having some German war guilt. The fact is that Washington believes Russia is against the Austrian treaty's being concluded now, preferring to keep her troops there.

4. Reduction of occupation forces in countries where they are not promptly withdrawn by treaty is another American objective. The official view is that even in Germany the need is not for a large permanent occupation army but for a smaller technically expert force capable of keeping tabs on Germany to be certain it makes peaceful rather than war goods. The aim of troop cutting is to slash the occupation burden and help Europe back to economic health.

Supports Disarmament Treaty

5. The old proposal of former Secretary of State James Byrnes for a 25-year (later boosted to a 40-year) German disarmament treaty also is said to have Marshall's strong support. The idea is that specifically in the case of Germany the great powers would reinforce their obligations under the United Nations charter by agreeing to act together to keep Germany disarmed. Americans feel that most Europeans fear the United States will pull out of Europe and wish to reassure them by a specific treaty promise.

In negotiations with Molotov, Byrnes evolved a "firm but patient" policy. Most observers believe that under Marshall there will be more firmness and less patience. As a military mind is trained to strike at essential facts, he reportedly has little patience with the diplomatic tendency to bury unpleasant realities under nice words.

In China he was burned up by what he considered a Soviet-directed propaganda fight on the United States. On Germany, another sore point is what the Russians are reportedly doing to win political favor at the cost of Allied unity.

With the future peace of Europe and the world deeply involved in the German treaty talks, Marshall is not expected to yield on any major points of American pre-conference policy, but neither have the Russians given any preliminary signs of willingness to compromise on major objectives.

Cuban Middle Class Has Frayed White Collar

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA, March 5—Inflationary boom times are enriching Cuba's sugar planters and creating a delirious heyday for its happy-go-lucky "obreros" —laborers — but its small middle class is being squeezed dry by rising costs.

Hal Boyle

From the fifteenth-century arrival of the gold-seeking Spaniards Cuba has been a country of fantastic contrasts between extreme wealth and barest poverty.

Members of the slowly evolving middle class in Cuba feel their nation's war-created sugar prosperity is grinding them back down toward the level of mass indigence.

"An obrero before the war made only about $1 a day," complained one office worker. "Now he gets $5. He has more money in his pockets than he knows what to do with. He lives in the same house he did before, and all he needs to wear is an old shirt and a pair of trousers.

Must Dress Better

"We of the middle class, however, must dress better. Yet our wages have risen much more slowly than those of the field workers. To buy a good pair of American shoes that cost me $8 before the war I now must pay $18. Government clerks got $60 a month five years ago. Now they get only $75 to $80—not nearly enough to make up for the rise in prices."

In Cuba, as in the United States, the one time prestige of the white collar is being outweighed by the financial advantages of overalls.

The warborne wealth is reflected in intense building activity along Havana's famed Quinta Avenida which passes through the exclusive Miramar residential district to Marianao beach.

Hundreds of spacious plaster-covered brick villas costing $50,000 or more are going up. For $10,000 you get something that looks like a glorified chicken coop with windows.

The city boasts of its facilities for the care of indigents—forty per cent of the national lottery goes to charity—but children and old women beg in the streets. At night tattered figures sleep huddled in midtown doorways, just as in China and in India.

Life is Hurdy-Gurdy

Life always wears more of a hurdy-gurdy air in Latin countries than elsewhere. The temperament of the people mirrors the climate —sunshiny with intermittent angry squalls.

Havana is noisy, flamboyant, neighborly and courteously cynical. Every driver approaches a blind intersection in the incurable faith that if he honks his horn the roadway will remain clear. Street sounds are so loud that a wise tourist begs for an inside room —the only way to get any sleep.

They are thoroughgoing partisans. If their favorite baseball team wins, the fans like to show their enthusiasm by tying a banner to a motorcycle and speeding through the narrow streets, cheering happily as they disembowel friend or foe.

Baseball Sweeps Island

Baseball madness has swept the island with the virulence of an epidemic. America's national pastime has completely eclipsed jai alai, which is most popular among the betting public.

But baseball is winning out strictly on its merits as a game. The professional teams play in the winter season and draw crowds of 30,000 at big games. The amateurs and semi-pros take the field during the hot summer months.

Almost every spare patch of ground, however, has a rudely marked diamond where raggedy youths play with no equipment but ball and bat. Scores of youngsters hang around the stadium where the Americanos—the Brooklyn Dodgers—are holding spring practice.

Observers long have noted that the chief interests of Havana's man-in-the-street are politics, love and the national lottery.

"Baseball is the first thing that ever made them forget politics," a native said.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1947

The Pragmatic Method

THERE'S no way to find out, except by trying, whether the nation is capable of raising a 100 per cent volunteer army and navy.

President Truman's decision not to recommend an extension of the Selective Service Act, which expires March 31, places responsibility for a full-strength army and navy upon the recruiting services From past records there is no way of determining whether they are equal to the task. At first glance, it would seem that they are not.

Based on the Army recruiting service's record for the last year, enlistments and re-enlistments for the next 12 months would total 240,000, while personnel losses through discharge will total 360,000. This would leave the army 120,000 short of its desired quota of 1,070,000 by July 1, 1948. The Navy's peacetime strength has been set at 571,000, which would mean that it must enlist 150,000 during the next year Enlistments are not being made at this rate at present. "However," says the President in his recommendation to congress, "there is a reasonable expectation that better results may be obtained."

Since September, 1945, when the Army recruiting program was instituted, selective service has been called upon only to make up deficits in recruitment. The last two months of 1946 each provided 18,000 enlistments while in January, always a good month for recruiting, the figure soared to 35,000. If recruiting throughout the year can be kept within 5,000 of the January total, the Army's recruitment program, in so far as quantity goes, is solved.

The President places two provisos in his recommendation: first, that the services may request re-enactment of the Selective Service Act if the recruiting program is unsuccessful, and second, that civilian personnel may be hired from appropriated funds when enlisted personnel is short. And he concludes with a declaration to which all may add assent: "The effort of the war department to reach the desired goal of an entirely volunteer army are worthy of the maximum support on the part of the administration, the congress and the people."

New American Credo

THE schoolteachers of Buffalo are back in the classrooms with a promise of better pay next year, if legislative action to provide more money is forthcoming. The city of Buffalo and other cities with the problem of adequate pay for teachers know now that the organized members of the teaching profession can be as formidable as coal miners, truck drivers, carpenters, garbage collectors, steelworkers, or the members of any of the unionized occupations.

The fact is that until the schoolteachers of Buffalo flouted the discipline they are responsible for preserving, they weren't getting anywhere. It's going to be hard to convince them and schoolteachers elsewhere that they shouldn't subscribe to the new American credo that pressure is the greater part of persuasion in a wage dispute Whatever prestige they may have lost by going on strike, they obtained results—and they can't eat prestige.

There is talk of a strike of schoolteachers in New York City. All over the United States, schoolteachers who haven't been getting anything but sympathy—and not too much of that—are going to wonder why they shouldn't follow the example of coal miners, who raised themselves from the bottom to the top of the wage scale by striking There's a reason. But social discipline seems remote from the struggle to survive inflation.

Their state of mind in this respect is a discouraging commentary on the state of affairs in a nation which likes to boast that it believes in the rule of live and yet live, yet is capable of letting the teaching profession drift into such a desperate economic plight that its members now must borrow the weapon of the strike to prove they are worthy of their hire.

Apply Eternal Vigilance

THE federal government doesn't know what to do with the selective-service files on some 44,000,000 American men. Some of the bureaucrats want to collect all this personal information in Washington, to make it available to various snoopers who can think of good excuses for looking at it. Others want it left where it is. All these schemes call for heavy expenditures of public money.

The public wants the files destroyed just as quickly as possible. All kinds of information was turned over to selective-service boards during the war years, because the war emergency seemed to make it necessary. With the passing of the war emergency, the information is no longer needed. It is potentially dangerous, a threat to individual liberty and a Democlean sword over the heads of millions of men who could be embarrassed and injured if the wrong persons managed to snoop into it. As long as the files exist, snoopers will be tempted. On a given day, all selective-service files should be destroyed simultaneously—proof that the eternal vigilance which is the price men pay for liberty still means something in the United States.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Stalin Calls Brief Truce in Diplomatic Wars.

WASHINGTON, March 5—The top grapevine from Russia whispers Stalin has decided to let his various diplomatic campaigns around the world coast for a time Specifically it reports any Russian move to capture the Dardanelles from Turkey has been dropped This was the feared venture which American government authorities thought might bring on another armed conflict, although our military people recognize they could not do much about protecting the distant straits unless we wanted to declare war on Russia

Now I am not guaranteeing the prophesy of the grapevine, merely reporting that the news has been received in our official quarters Personally I believe only what I see, after it has happened, in connection with the current situation My own reports long ago suggested the Russian spring campaign would take the line of arming the Greek guerrillas secretly in the north for a rebellion which would cause an uproar in Greece—a report which has grown in significance now that the British wish to back out

Conference Approaching

So the Moscow conference of foreign ministers, at any rate, is approaching under slightly favorable inner auspices Our diplomatic authorities do not consider the auspices to be more than slightly favorable, because the deputies of the foreign ministers, who have been preparing the drafts of proposed German and Austrian treaties, have not been able to agree on much. Indeed, in the judgment of the foremost diplomats, the Moscow meeting will not be able to agree on much either In general, I believe, our government expects continuance of the unsatisfactory stalemate of world peace affairs, accentuated by the British crisis

But I cannot detect on the inside any widespread support for calling off the proposed conference, or to withdraw our troops from Germany, leaving only a policing nucleus of, say, 500 men there (as suggested by an army authority in this spot recently.) Most officials cling to the belief that conversations with Russia must continue, however small may be the chance of settlements Yet they are afraid to withdraw from Germany because they suspect Russia would immediately begin campaigning to spread her influence in the British, French and American zones. They recognize we are in Germany solely because of the existence of the constant Russian threat, and we must remain there until some genuine evidence accumulates that the threat is over.

The Russian diplomatic game is well understood here Stalin can afford to wait instead of moving now, for instance, into the Turkish territory Communism wishes to continue to capitalize on all world discontent, insecurity and fear Ills must always exist in a human world, and Russia is trying to collect all oppositions everywhere, in expectation that when breaks develop, she will inherit governments everywhere by simply having them fall into her lap That strategy is easily discernible

Lack of Sentiment

Now General Marshall has started his tenure with a speech (Princeton, Feb 22,) striking out against the apathy of the public concerning world affairs and presumably also against public disinterestedness in the severe situation I have outlined above He says America must assume world leadership. But his speech was couched in generalities and really was itself evidence of the situation against which it complained. We (the people) look to Marshall, Truman, Taft, Vandenberg and others for leadership but there is no ardent public sentiment for any particular world developments and the speeches of the leaders are so general in nature they have failed to arouse any sparks of public sentiment Personally I think the leaders are responsible more than the people The situation is just as grave as General Marshall contended—more so since the British break If we all keep on coasting the way we have been in the past few months Stalin will realize his aims Leaders like Marshall should get into action, talk frankly and plainly, but above all specifically

First of all, Russia should be required to take the responsibility of her leadership in her satellite states, and no longer be permitted to sit back waiting for enough world ills to accumulate to throw nations into her purely negative revolutionary program What are the economic conditions which Communism has brought to European nations she conquered? The truth should be known and advertised The whole world then would know Communism has brought nothing superior or desirable to anyone Communism is impoverished ethically and economically. Russia cannot give the people a better living She cannot even produce a good automobile.

Russia should not be allowed to sit back and wait for chaos (while secretly promoting same), using the rights and privileges of democracy to accomplish the ruin of democracy Democracies should give her no more rights than she gives them.

If Marshall, Truman, Taft and Vandenberg would take up a program of affirmative action like this which held some promise of genuine encouragement, there would be less public apathy for them to complain about Who's Going To Mind Your Little Exemption?

The Collector of Internal Revenue has ruled that payments made to baby sitters are not deductible for income tax purposes.

This comes as a surprise to many citizens who considered it an obviously essential outgoing expense.

Form 1040 is getting as airtight as a dead man's alibi About the only thing you can still deduct as the cost of doing business is the cost of doing business.

Gambling losses have long since been declared non-deductible. Uncle Sam does not approve of taking chances, unless, of course, you win

You can still be sick at government expense, but only in excess of five per cent of your income And who wants to be that sick?

Great stone institutions have been built for citizens who sought to argue with the department of internal revenue, but it seems to me its policy in this instance is particularly shortsighted The loss entailed in allowing deduction of baby-sitter payments would be made up many times over in increased returns from entertainment taxes

A "Grass Roots" Boom

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—A "grass roots" boom in small businesses throughout the United States is reported by a national real estate firm. G I s, former war workers and others are buying pint-sized businesses, including small farms, at a rate exceeding any similar movement in history, says the E A Strout Realty Agency

Eighty-five percent of all buyers are reported to be paying from 50 per cent to all cash for business properties averaging around $7,000 on the west coast and $6 000 east of the Rockies

Western sales are listed as 66½ per cent greater than 1945 sales and higher prices of west coast properties seem to be no deterrent.

V A Miehls, vice president of the Strout Agency, said the firm's volume of business since V-J day had exceeded 45 million dollars, which was 500 per cent higher than the volume for any similar period in the past

The total included 8,000 small businesses and farms

"The decentralization of cities is proceding at a faster rate than at any time since the automobile became cheaply available," Miehls explains. "The spreading out of big industries, the improvement of highways and the increasing network of airlines is aiding the process "

At no other time, Miehls said, have there been such good opportunities for a man to make a living in the country.

Citing the success of some recent buyers, he said that renewed interest in tourist travel had become a profitable source of income to country hotel and auto court owners, and that the present prosperous condition of the farmer has brought thousands of independent grocery store owners, dealers in hardware and farm equipment and other hard and soft goods lines to country districts

Hobson's Choice for Porter

By STEWART ALSOP

Special to The Star

WASHINGTON, March 5—The following dispatch from Stewart Alsop in Greece describes the situation which has now precipitated a crisis in American foreign policy The urgency of the Greek economic problem and its far-reaching political implications were main factors in President Truman's decision to summon congressional leaders to the White House and to ask their aid in organizing a kind of overseas economic fire brigade.

ATHENS, March 4—After Secretary of State George C Marshall made his recent statement on Greece, no less than four members of other delegations approached the single American representative on the United Nations Balkan commission They all congratulated him on the sound sense of Marshall's analysis of the Greek situation, and then they all asked the same question, "But what is the United States going to do about it?"

The final answer to this $64 question will lie with the United States senate. For Paul A. Porter, chief of the American economic mission to Greece, can only propose The senate will dispose. Yet, what Porter proposes will in itself be of enormous interest. For the tall, shrewd Kentuckian is now face-to-face with the greatest unresolved problem of American foreign policy; the relationship between political foreign policy and economic foreign policy.

Porter has arrived in Greece with the rank of ambassador But he has certainly not conducted himself in what is usually considered the diplomatic tradition—the tradition of striped trousers and honeyed words. Porter's pants are unpressed and his words very much to the point. Too much to the point, indeed, for certain Greeks, who had happily visualized him in the role of a sort of human cornucopia. He has made it regrettably clear that to quote his own phrase, "he left his checkbook at home."

Working Hard

Carefully eschewing the rich Athenian social life, and in the intervals of wrestling with the immediate and appalling Greek financial crisis, he has been traveling indefatigably around the country asking some very frank questions. He has not had an easy time As he soon discovered, the Greeks do not believe in keeping accounts (there is not a single public accountant in all Athens), but with great determination Porter has slowly been collecting the facts which will give him a true picture of the Greek economic potential

No one, probably, but Porter himself knows for certain what he will propose as a result. But, in a broad sense, it is becoming clear that he is faced with choosing among three alternatives, all distinctly unpalatable.

Alternative 1 is, in the words of one economist, to "throw Greece a fish, and get out." In more specific terms, this would mean assigning to Greece $50,000,000 or so of the $250,000,000 voted by the senate for international relief leaving it at that. No one here has the faintest doubt of the result. Actual starvation might be prevented for a time, but sooner or later, and probably very soon, the Greek economy would literally explode Greece would move with mathematical certainty into the political sphere of the Soviet Union. That is Alternative 1

Alternative 2 would be for the United States to don the familiar costume of the international lady bountiful and hand the Greek government a nice fat juicy check with no strings attached It would need to be a very juicy check indeed, since it would have to filter down through the feathering of certain already well-feathered Greek nests, through the purchase of Buicks for deserving Greek politicians, through the tangled morass of the Greek civil service, and through the general incompetence and short-sightedness of the Greek government.

Buying Time

Yet, if the check was sufficiently fat, its effect might seep down through the Greek economy in such a way that a few months or years of time might be bought. It is on this theory that the British, who have poured 31,000,000 ill-spared pounds into Greece since the liberation, have operated They thought they were buying time against an over-all international settlement Their economists now privately admit that they guessed wrong The Santa Claus alternative is Paul Porter's Alternative 2.

His Alternative 3 is in many ways the least palatable. Essentially it would mean a great and determined effort to set the Greek economy firmly on its feet, not for love of the unlovely Greek government, very little out of admiration for the admirable Greek people, but almost entirely in the selfish American interest. A careful estimate would be made of the minimum means to achieve this end rehabilitation of the Greek transport system; exploitation of the rich Greek lygnite, bauxite and other unused mineral resources; improvement of the primitive Greek farming and fishing methods; strict control over imports, and rationalization of the insane methods of government finance; all this, and much more

The credit necessary for such projects would then be offered to Greece, but with two large strings attached String 1: that unless the projects were seriously undertaken, the credit would be immediately withdrawn, String 2. that American advisers and technicians be installed, with far more than meaningless advisory powers, to push the projects through. That is Alternative 3.

Figuring the Cost

It is hard to understand what it would mean It would be cheaper than Alternative 2, but it would still cost a deal of money Important Greek toes would be stepped on But far more significant would be the basic reversal in the traditional American foreign policy which it would entail. It would mean the intimate American involvement in the affairs of a European nation Nor would it concern Greece alone, for to succeed, the pattern would have to be applied elsewhere as well It would mean, if you will, dollar diplomacy and economic imperialism for political ends. It would mean all these unpleasant things. But before discarding Aternative 3, it is well to consider the real meanings of Alternatives 1 and 2.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

"Let Me Check on That"

There are five words in the English language that are responsible for more buck passing, stalling and general gumming up of efficiency than perhaps any other factor in the reconversion picture. They are, "Let me check on that"

In fact strip that one word "check" from the language as a verb, and you will rid the American picture of 75 per cent of the present chaos, fuddle-duddery and waltzing in the dark. "Let me check on that" is the outstanding alibi of the hour It is the Number One refuge of the stalleroo king. It is the top dodge of the double-talker.

It is the first resort of the fellow whose motto is "File and Forget," and the emergency exit for the tick who doesn't know what you are talking about and has only a mild intention of finding out.

On, string him high
And by the neck—
The smoothy who Says "Lemme check'"

"I'll look into that," "Rest assured your complaint will be gone into" and "The matter will get my earliest attention" are old time standard roadblocks in the path of quick results, but "Let me check on that" has them all topped It is in such general usage that it infuriates If you call anybody anywhere to ask about anything and get the answer "Lemme check on that," just groan and hang up.

There is no ring of sincerity to the words They have become a symbol of buck passing and lack of interest The butcher says it when you phone to say he gave you lamb chops instead of a steak. The milkman says it when you tell him he forgot the cream. It is the stock answer of the telephone company manager when you blow your top over frightful service and appeal to him for a little cooperation.

The garage man pulls it when you tell him that instead of fixing the hub cap he repaired the radiator ornament The doctor springs it when you say the grip powders turned out to be knockout drops The desk sergeant whips it out when you call up for the third time and say "Those burglars I told you about are still giving me a going over"

"I'll check on that" is driving the customers nuts, threatening the welfare of the nation and imperiling the people's poise It is a ruse, an alibi, a subterfuge and a snare We are declaring war on it

We just phoned the tailor to send up our new blue serge suit. He sent up a pair of boy's knee pants and an Indian blanket. We are going down to his shop in person to tell him about it. If he says "Well, whaddaya know!" or "Something musta went wrong eh?" okay But if he says "Let me check on that" we will slay him on the spot Enough is enough!

PORK may go to a dollar a pound. This was reflected the other day when we went into a store to buy an old record of the Disney "Three Little Pigs" number and were told it would cost $2,000

New York has passed a bill making it illegal for any barroom or cafe to use liquor glasses with false bottoms It's about time somebody did something to protect the poor drinking man Some of our best places have been using glasses that no old time carnival or midway bartender would have stooped low enough to employ The bill bars all glasses 'so constructed as to be deceptive in appearance or misleading as to true capacity"

Okay, but what about the bottles?

It amazes us to note how many people who see "The Jolson Story" get away off the beam so far as an understanding of Jolson's talents are concerned We mean those who never saw him on the stage But upon a second look at the picture we can understand it In the movie, Larry Parks follows the script and does a wonderful job, but the script reveals Al only as a vocal wonder It barely touches on his rare abilities as a comedian Jolson was a top comic, one of the funniest men in theatre history.

Take Over, Worms

By TRUMAN TWILL

Our growing-stuff editor dropped a clipping of an advertisement about earthworms on our desk and snickered He snickered because he spotted us long ago as an imposter in the department of agriculture (victory-garden league)

We don't mind his razzing It isn't our fault that fate made us a city boy who eroded in the soil, instead of a country boy who made good in the city If it hadn't been for the late war and victory gardens, our secret wouldn't have leaked out No one would have known about the gravel pit

When we moved there, the man said something about the richness of the soil and pointed to its color It was the month of March. It had been a long, hard winter. The soil looked black, but the blackness washed off in the spring rains The fertility, ho, ho, that was a rich one.

We had to find out the hard way. We should have known how things were when we found no earthworms, but remember ---we were only a city boy eroding in the soil. It wasn't until later that we learned that earthworms don't live in tin-can dumps

They don't go for gravel pits, either, which is what we had beneath the tin-can dump On second thought, it wasn't just a tin-can dump It also was a broken glass, brickbat, old iron, shattered concrete and wisps of battered fencing dump Everything was there.

Bones, telephone pole insulators, overshoes pieces of slate, soggy lead pencils, discarded dry cells, strands of rope, toy automobiles, parts of real automobiles, shotgun shell cases, play pistols, lengths of porch-swing chain, rocket sticks, pieces of cloth.

But no worms.

Consequently, there were no tomatoes, though tomatoes will grow in almost anything; no peas, no beans, no radishes, no carrots. When summer came, you could bounce a baseball on the surface of that "good earth" An earthworm would have needed an electric drill and a can of vegetable shortening to bore a hole and get into it and then would have starved to death We shall never forget the awful night our growing-stuff editor called our bluff and came to see our victory garden

He looked at the dump with its few sickly sprouts. He looked at us. Then he went away Next day he sold a War Bond We've never been able to look at him since

He likes to keep old wounds open with advertisements for earthworms . "for earlier and higher yields, more abundant foliage, greater resistance to disease." "Let earthworms do your gardening" advises the advertisement. All right, worms. This is your chance. See how far you can get in that "good earth."

Erie Freight Volume for 1946 High but Earnings Are Low

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, March 5—With the greatest volume of freight any peacetime year except 1923, the earnings of the Erie were little better than during depression years, R. E. president, told the stockholders in the annual report income for the year was $2,994,724, equivalent to earning 40 on common stock ing for the full $5 dividend on preferred 1945 the net income 135 or $1.54 per share stock.

reason for the rail- earnings in the face business, Mr. Woodruff stockholders, lay in the increased expenses and delay in getting interstate commission approval to rates.

of these conditions," is essential that there entirely new and realistic toward a sound national policy which will railroads to earn at 6 per cent return on valuation. Such a rate is necessary to restore credit to a higher level the industry in a posi- forward to meet the of an expanding economy."

Operating Revenues

revenues for 1946 to $127,836,171 and rep- a decrease of $11,655,255 per cent as compared with At the same time, operating for the year were de- by $9,147,943 or 7.7 per The Erie's return on its valuation for the year 2.15 per cent.

Railroad wages," he said, increased 51 per cent since Two increases were granted 1946. The first was retroactive to Jan. 1, 1946, totaling 16 cents an hour and the second on May 22, 1946, of 2½ cents an hour as an outcome of the national railroad strike. The cost of materials, fuel and supplies has risen approximately 50 per cent (coal costs to Erie have increased 63 per cent) since 1939."

To counteract mounting costs, Mr. Woodruff told the stockholders the railroads jointly on April 15, 1946, asked permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission to increase freight rates by an average of about 19 per cent.

Small Increase Granted.

Effective July 1, 1946, the commission granted a small emergency increase averaging about 6½ per cent which was far short of meeting the higher operating costs placed upon the railroads in recent years. This produced additional revenue of $4,721,000 for the Erie railroad, but increased wages made effective in 1946 cost the company $11,041,000 and higher fuel and material prices an additional $1,478,000.

As of January 1, 1947, the interstate commerce commission cancelled the 6½ per cent emergency freight rate increase and substituted increases averaging about 17.6 per cent. It is estimated this rate increase will produce $15,540,000 additional revenue for the Erie over 1946. Since the railroads' application was filed, and on which the commission's decision was based, the cost of wages, coal, steel and other materials continues to rise. In addition, taxes for employe retirements and disability benefits called for in the Crosser bill will cost the Erie $1,573,000 more this year.

"While this larger freight rate increase," Mr. Woodruff said, "presents an opportunity to resume a more normal maintenance program, it still falls short of providing sufficient net income to attract a continuing supply of new capital to meet the needs of the railroads for improvements and modernization. In its report granting the increase, the Commission admitted that the railroads in the Eastern district would earn only about 2 per cent under the new rates on their property valuations as of January 1, 1945."

Competitive Subsidies

The Erie president also pointed out that the government continues to appropriate huge sums of tax money to competitive forms of transportation, as subsidies. He pointed out that President Truman recommended the appropriation of nearly $800,000,000 to finance deferred maintenance and improvement of motor and water transportation and to expand airway and airport facilities. Not one cent of government money is to be directed toward the railroads.

"The railroads," he said, "do not ask for government subsidies nor do they seek special treatment. All they ask is fair play, an opportunity to earn a rate of return which will enable them to fulfill the nation's basic transportation needs and give the people of America the finest freight and passenger service they have ever enjoyed."

The railroad's fixed interest charges were further reduced during the year by $769,130 and are now less than $5,000,000 on an annual basis. Savings of $2,539,151 have been made since 1941. The total of fixed charges and contingent interest in 1946 was less than the fixed charges alone in 1941.

Rolling stock owned by the Erie includes 25,610 freight cars, 716 passenger cars, and 776 steam and diesel locomotives. In addition the road's marine activities requires the operation of 237 boats.

To keep its trains moving over 5,545 miles of all types of track the road employs 23,666 persons. Stock in the company is held by 262,816 persons and the total investment in transportation property is $432,473,272.

Iron Prices Point Danger

Trade Paper Says Scrap Cost Indicates Inflationary Period Ahead.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 5 — The metalworking paper Iron Age said today rising prices for non-ferrous metals, iron and steel scrap, and pig iron "definitely point up an inflationary period outshadowed only by temporary periods during and shortly after World War I."

Scrap prices were reported "entirely out of control" with the market for this basic material "in its most chaotic state in steelmaking history."

With ingot output this week placed at 94.5 per cent of capacity and a higher operating rate anticipated for some months to come, the paper said "some sources fear that scrap quotations may go higher before a reaction sets in."

The Iron Age reported these price levels:

Scrap—The composite price, averaging Pittsburgh, Chicago and Philadelphia heavy melting scrap quotations, moved up to $36.67 a gross ton, an advance for the week of $2.59. This compared with a 1939 average of $16.39, and a June, 1917, price of $37.21.

Pig Iron—The paper's composite price advanced to $32.23 a gross ton, up $2.08 in the week. This compared with the 1939 average of $21.19 a ton and a peak of $47.83 in July, 1920.

Increases lifting copper to 21½ cents a pound and lead to 15 cents a pound, the publication said, "may be followed up by new price increases in other metals that are in a similar supply-demand position." It cited tin, antimony, cadmium and perhaps zinc as metals in which advances "may well be expected."

Pig iron price increases ranged from $2.50 to $4 a ton, The Iron Age said, depending on the grade and the producer. Pointing out some makers have not yet taken any action, it said a further advance was expected next week.

Buyers and sellers alike "appear to have lost their perspective" on iron and steel scrap prices, the paper commented, adding that "according to authoritative sources within the steel industry itself it is now pirvately admitted that the bitter competition for material at some distance from the steel mills had contributed primarily to the snowballing effect in higher prices."

Liquor Tiff Still Rages

Governor, Newsmen Differ on What Director Said About Gambling.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—Controversy over testimony by Liquor Director Stanley B. Cofall about the state liquor board's gambling regulation still raged in the state capitol today.

Newsmen generall quoted Cofall as recommending to the Ohio senate's liquor investigating committee last Thursday the abolishment of board regulation 32-A, which bans operation of gambling devices in establishments licensed by the state.

They said he wanted the enforcement of gambling turned over to local enforcement officers.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, however, took issue with that interpretation, saying "I do not construe" Cofall's statement to mean that the state should rescind regulation 32-A.

The official transcript of Cofall's testimony to the committee had this version:

"Question: What do you think could be done to improve the morale of this department?

"Answer: Well, in the enforcement particularly, I think the elimination of board regulation 32-A which has reference to gambling. I think if we would eliminate that and leave the enforcement to the local agencies (it) would remedy our situation considerably, that would be one helpful way along that line. * * *

"Q: * * * As I understand your statement was that if that regulation be repealed * * * it would help in the enforcement?

"A: It would help considerably. Pardon me, for your information the reason that is one of the important things is that in some cities I found out that some types of gambling devices are legalized, that makes it embarrassing to the department to know just how to proceed, you can't make a statewide rule on certain things."

Attorney Collopy said yesterday Cofall would be recalled in a continuing inquiry into permits, enforcement and purchases.

Public committee hearings will be resumed tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., Collopy said.

Broadway Plays Theme of Talk At Club Meeting

A TOUR of the plays on Broadway with Professor William C Craig, head of the department of speech at the College of Wooster, provided more than an hour of delightful entertainment for members and patrons of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs, last night at Hotel Harding. The speaker struck a responsive chord in the minds of his audience when he told them that all his life he wanted to have something to do with plays and also related his experience in his senior high school class play, and it was easy to move mentally to Broadway for the remainder of the program. His subject was "Broadway Tonight at 8.30."

In this country, he said, in one family out of three there is one person connected with plays in either the theater, granges, schools, churches or amateur productions and there is a universal urge in all of us to act a part.

Turning to the plays now on Broadway he said there are very few new plays, they are mostly revivals Playwrights are doing very little he said and cited as one of the several reasons, that of getting financial backing for good productions and the fact that in these days people are not willing to gamble on the outcome of a play. The theater is dropping back into the 1920's for productions because finances can be recruited for plays which have scored successes, and as proof he cited "Craig's Wife," "Lady Windemere's Fan," and several others.

Burlesque, he said, has been taken "up town" and presented on a higher plane "Burlesque," he pointed out is still burlesque with a plot running through it. Bobby Clark, Professor Craig designated as "one of the real comedians," and gave "Street Scene" as the closest approach to American opera along with "Porgy and Bess" One of the most delightful plays is "Harvey," Professor Craig said, and he gave a brief sketch of the show, one of the most carefully protected plays on Broadway so far as copyrights are concerned

He reminded his audience that "The Iceman Cometh" is folding up and in discussing the author said Eugene O'Neill, who has been in retirement for a number of years, has forgotten that the theater has been making strides and has gone one step beyond naturalism In discussing the recent O'Neill play, "A Moon for the Misbegotten," he described it as "Tobacco Road," with a part of "Strange Interlude," 'Smilin' Thru," and the girl as "Ann Christie."

In discussing the long runs of such plays as "Maid of the Ozarks," "Tobacco Road," and other salicious productions, he gave as one of the reasons that there are people who will pay money to "snicker in the dark at something downright dirty"

Professor Craig selected the Lunts as his choice of performers and for his playwrights named Maxwell Anderson and Tennessee Williams

Two readings, Robert Benchley's "Christmas Entertainment" and an Irish dialect number provided additional entertainment on the program.

Mrs. Fillmore Young, program chairman, presided for the meeting and Professor Craig was presented by Mrs. C. B. Morrison.

TWO MEN LEAVE SCENE AFTER TRAIN HITS CAR

Police Find Wreckage But No Occupants.

An automobile stalled on the Big Four railroad tracks at the end of North Vine street was struck by "The Knickerbocker," fast east-bound New York Central passenger train last night at 10:30, hurled about 60 feet and demolished.

The car's registration was made out to Frank Dowell of near Richwood. Police said he told them today that the car had been driven by his brother.

There was apparently no one in the car when it was hit. Mrs. Charles Myers of 155 North Vine street told police two men, both of whom appeared injured, asked her to call a wrecker and an ambulance, but that they left before the police squad car arrived.

The car had been driven a distance of 35 feet past the end of North Vine street, through a ditch and onto the railroad's right-of-way. The call was answered by the Hughes ambulance and the car taken away by the Fremont garage. The train stopped for a short time.

Ohio Ex-Convict Suicides When Police Enter Home

CLEVELAND, March 5—A 30-year-old ex-convict shot and killed himself early today, police said, when they sought to enter his apartment to conduct a search.

Patrolman Vincent H. Fiebig identified the man as Louis Nieradko, 30, who has served eight years in Ohio State penitentiary on charges of armed robbery in Canton.

Police were sent to the apartment when Walter S. Nieradko, father of the man, complained to police that Nieradko and his brother, Kasmir, 32, had threatened him and his daughter with a revolver.

Kasmir, who also served eight years for the Canton robbery, quoted his brother as saying:

"If the folks call police they aren't going to take me alive. I spent eight years in stir and I'm not going back."

Kasmir was held for investigation.

Power Shovel Co. Net Profit Listed at 4-Year-Low in '46

Was $129,455, Annual Report Shows; Cost of Steel Strike Set at $203,107; Prospects Good for 1947.

The Marion Power Shovel Co. on total sales of $9,415,986.03 showed a net profit in 1946 of $129,455.87, the annual report distributed to stockholders today reveals.

The net profit is the lowest reported by the company in four years. In 1945 the net profit was $284,397; for 1944 it was $482,970, and for 1943 the profit was $473,851.

The profit for last year was made possible only by a refund on federal taxes of $164,896.41. The report shows a loss from operations of $35,440.54 before receipt of the tax refund. The profit is carried to earned surplus.

To record total sales of $9,415,986.03 the company incurred cost of sales expenses, which include manufacturing costs, of $8,455,570.57, leaving a gross profit from operations of $960,415.46. Selling, administrative and general expenses amounted to $782,494.09, reducing the profit from operations to $177,921.37.

Deductions from income including expenses for the strike shutdown last year, provisions for obselescence of product and other items amounted to $343,361.91 and income credits of $100,000 for prior years special inventory losses reflected in 1946 cost of sales and $30,000 workmen's compensation reserve left a net loss of $35,440.54 before the net tax refund of $164,896.41.

The tax refund turned the loss into a net profit of $129,455.87.

Charged against the cost of operations for 1946 is an amount of $203,107 representing the strike expense while the plant was shut down early last year in the nationwide steel strike. The plant was down for more than eight weeks.

1947 Prospects Good

In a message to stockholders, signed by E. G. Diefenbach, chairman of the board, and Harvey T. Gracely, president, a backlog of orders now on hand is placed at more than $25,000,000. The message forecasts that shipments of new machines and repair parts will exceed $18,000,000 in value in 1947.

Because it is beyond the capacity of the Marion plant to produce the amount of machines now on order by delivery dates specified by the purchasers the company has contracted with subcontractors to help fill the orders, the message states.

The report lists working capital on hand as of Dec. 31, 1946, as amounting to $5,095,819. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities as of the same date is placed at 3.23 to 1.

Financial Plans Outlined

The officers of the company reported to stockholders on efforts to overhaul the company's financial structure as follows:

"Early in 1946 your board of directors launched a program of plant rehabilitation and initiated steps to clarify the financial position and capital structure of your company. A bank loan due Feb. 1, 1947, in the principal amount of $1,000,000 was paid off on May 2, 1946. To finance needed plant rehabilitation a capital long-term loan commitment in the aggregate amount of $2,000,000 was negotiated with commercial banks at interest rates from 1½ per cent to 2¾ per cent. At the close of the 1946 fiscal year, half this bank commitment, namely $1,000,000, had been borrowed by your company. The last installment of this loan matures on April 30, 1953, and the first repayment installment is due and payable on April 30, 1948.

"The first step toward simplification of your company's capital structure was successfully completed on June 14, 1946, when under a plan of exchange 50 per cent of the preferred shares of the company then outstanding in the hands of the public were deposited for cancellation. A total of 13,219½ shares of preferred stock so deposited were exchanged for 158,634 shares of newly created common capital shares which was at the rate of 12 shares of common for one share of preferred. This exchange resulted in the elimination of $1,321,950 par value of the 7 per cent preferred capital stock and at the same time represented the elimination of over $1,453,000 in preferred stock dividend arrearages. . . . A further plan for the creation of a 4½ per cent prior preferred was abandoned because of inability to obtain a quorum of preferred shareholders.

"The number of common shareholders increased during the year from 700 to 1,185 while the number of preferred shareholders decreased from 638 to 485. . . .

"For the benefit of preferred shareholders as well as of themselves, the common shareholders will be asked to approve a reduction in the amount of the authorized 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock from 31,000 shares to 13,219 shares through the retirement of 17,781 shares."

The annual meeting of stockholders will be held in Marion April 7. Nine directors are to be elected, three to represent preferred shareholders and six to represent common shareholders.

form of a ban on all American exports to the Soviet Union.

Rep. Bradley (R-Mich) chairman of the merchant marine committee which has been inquiring into the transfer of 95 American ships to Russia during the war, introduced a bill to clamp on the export embargo because, he said, "Russia has not even deigned to give us the courtesy of a reply as to her intention" concerning the ships.

Fears Patent "Leak"

His action came late in the day after Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), chairman of the house committee on un-American activities told his colleagues that Russian acquisition of American patents may be putting that country "well on her way to the discovery of many, if indeed not all" atomic bomb secrets.

The patent office said it is required by law to sell copies of patents to all who ask for them.

In the first official word on the Greek crisis since it flared to high proportions late last week, Marshall said in a statement yesterday the Athens government has asked for aid in an economic situation that has "deteriorated to the verge of collapse."

London dispatches meanwhile quoted government sources there as saying the British plan to begin withdrawals of their troops from Greece despite American offers of financial aid.

Former Secretary of State Byrnes pointed out yesterday that beyond any immediate help there may be the necessity of extending some longer term financial aid to the Greeks if they are to benefit by the reparations allowed them in the Italian peace treaty.

Urges Speedy Ratification

Urging speedy approval of this and three other treaties, Byrnes told the senate foreign relations committee he knows of no raw materials in Greece which would be availabe to fulfill one reparations requirement. This stipulates that countries receiving manufactured products as reparations must furnish the raw materials for their manufacture.

"Someone will have to make an advance to Greece to buy the raw materials to send to Italy to be processed," Byrnes testified.

Byrnes noted that a proposed treaty with Austria, which Marshall expects to discuss with the other foreign ministers in the Moscow conference, may clear the way for withdrawal of most occupation troops from that and adjoining countries, where Russians still will maintain communication lines after the four pending treaties become effective.

But on the German treaty there was little apparent confidence that anything more could be settled than some of the main points of postwar conflict between Russia on the one hand and the western powers on the other.

EVANGELISTIC SERIES TO END

Closing service of the Dr. John R. Rice union evangelistic campaign has been set for tonight in The Star auditorium, with Dr. Rice speaking on "Missing God's Last Train for Heaven." The service will be at 7.30.

Last night attendance was reported as 830, and the sermon was "The Shortest Road from Marion to Hell."

Each student of Harding High school and the junior high schools present was given a book by Dr. Rice. Rev. R. W. Faulkner presided, Rev. H. V. Falor offered prayer and Dr. Harry Clarke had charge of the offering. Pianists were Mrs. Wesley Chatfield and Mrs. J. W. Baker. Dr. Clarke sang "When Jesus Comes Again."

In part Dr. Rice said, "Every sermon Jesus preached, He seemed to bring in the matter of Hell. Every unrepentant sinner in Marion goes to hell. It is wonderful in these days that we have the Bible and the Gospel. What wonderful salvation this salvation is. We have a record of how Jesus died and that He arose. It is a great salvation. It was paid for with the bloody sweat of Gethsemanae. It is wonderful because you do not pay for it. The Lord paid it all. We sing 'Jesus paid it all, all to Him I owe.' What some of we poor unbelieving Christians say in our heart is 'Jesus paid a part.' Some poor people think they bought salvation because they went to church, were confirmed. Salvation is so great because it is everlasting. What a fool any one is that misses this great salvation.

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation? Any one who goes to Hell goes there because they neglect. You had better give heed to what you hear of the Word of God. There has been enough gospel preached in this town that everybody could have been saved."

"Somebody tonight will give heed and miss Hell, and somebody will not give heed and will go to Hell. Some people say they will be saved tomorrow, but tomorrow never comes. Neglect is the main traveled road to hell."

Eight persons responded to the altar call.

Suit Involving Kenton Firm Under Advisement

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 5—A national labor relations board trial examiner today had under advisement a request by an NLRB attorney that the Kenton Plastics Co. either be forced to move back to Akron or that some 50 employes be paid wages to last July when the Rome Products Co. allegedly transferred operations to Kenton, O.

The request was made by NLRB Attorney John A. Hull Jr., of the agency's Cleveland office. The CIO-United Rubber Workers contends that Howard Rome shifted the plant to dodge unionization. The concern manufactures plastic toys and novelties.

Rome insists the present company and its predecessor are two separate entities.

PAY RAISES SOUGHT BY GALION EMPLOYES

Special to The Star

GALION, March 5 — Action taken by city council Tuesday night at the regular session abolishes the plumbing inspector job in the city. The ordinance passed by council repeals Ordinance No 1155 passed on April 3, 1923, to regulate the construction of plumbing in the city and to provide for proper inspection thereof, and also repeals ordinance 2335 passed May 18, 1937, entitled an ordinance providing for the licensing of plumbers and sewer tappers in the city of Galion. In short, it cancels all ordinances or parts of ordinances that have to do with plumbing in the city. The new law will require no plumbing inspection on private residences, here.

At the same time council received two petitions for advances in salaries of more than 40 employes of the city. One petition was signed by employes of Galion City hospital, there are sometimes as many as 28 employed, and the other petition was signed by seven patrolmen and seven firemen.

The petition to council from employes of City hospital asks for raises in salaries of $45 a month for registered and graduate nurses and regular technician while $25 a month increase is asked for undergraduates, practical nurses, cooks, clerk and assistant technician. The request is for $6.50 per day for relief nurses; two weeks vacation with pay for a 44-hour week; 40-hour week recommended. The petition also suggests that since room rates for patients at the hospital are lower than any hospital in this area, the raise could be "nicely cared for" by raising the rates $1 a day. The petition was referred to the finance committee. The last raise received by the hospital employes was Feb. 4, 1946. This now gives registered nurses $145 a month, graduate nurses $135, the superintendent $180, supervisors $155, and surgical nurses $155. All employes are now getting two meals per day, and nurses when on duty are allowed $5.00 per month for their laundry. A previous raise was given the employes on Jan. 2, 1945.

The petition signed by policemen and firemen asks for increases in salaries of $30 a month. Chiefs of the two departments now receive $200 a month while patrolmen and regular firemen get on the average of $180 a month. This petition also was referred to the finance committee.

LEGISLATURE WEIGHS BONUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5 — Five-member committees of the senate and house met jointly today for another whirl at the knotty problem of what kinds of a veterans bonus proposal should be drafted.

Eight separate plans for paying from $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 in bonuses to Ohio World War II veterans have been hung up over failure to agree on whether the money should be raised through realty or other taxes.

Last night a proposal by Sen John W. Morrison (R-Portage) to increase top salaries of county engineers from $6,000 to $9,000 a year, and the floor from $2,100 to $3,600, was recommended by the senate highway committee.

The senate unanimously passed a house-approved bill appropriating $9,050,000 to the highway department to start its spring road repair work.

Auditors' Bill Stalled

Apparently stalled in the house rules committee was a senate-approved measure to boost maximum salaries of county auditors from $6,000 to $7,200 and allow increases below that top according to county populations.

The senate highway committee also reported out a bill by Sen. E. E. Addison (R-Franklin) to allow cities to condemn land for downtown parking lots and lease or sell it to private individuals for that purpose.

A provision whereby cities could operate the off-street parking lots was stricken before the measure was sent to the tax committee to pass on proposals for raising funds to buy such land.

A third measure recommended by the committee last night would change the name of the present 3-C highway to the 37th Division Memorial highway. The bill, by Rep John Hayden (R-Clermont), already has passed the house.

VETS' FARM COURSE ORGANIZED AT LARUE

24 Enroll for Training; Second Unit in County.

A second farm training school for World War II veterans was organized at LaRue last night when 24 veterans met in the high school building. A similar school for veterans now is being conducted at the Pleasant township school.

Meeting with the veterans were W. E. Green, farmer of Prospect, who will be the school instructor, and Burdette Hunter, LaRue vocational agriculture instructor.

Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday of each week from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The program is financed through the GI bill of rights and provides for both class room and on-the-job training.

The veterans will be given 200 hours of class room instruction. Veterans who operate or manage their own farms will receive 100 hours of supervision in on-the-job training and veterans employed on farms will receive 50 hours.

8 Former WLW Stars To Help Station Celebrate Anniversary

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 5—Eight popular entertainers, who acquired radio network fame after getting their first "break" on 50,000-watt WLW here, will participate in a special program tonight commemorating the 25th anniversary of the "nation's Station."

The hour long program starting at 7 p. m., presented through a Cincinnati-New York hookup, will feature the Mills Brothers, renowed novelty quartet from Piqua, O.; songstress Jane Froman; little Jack Little, pianist-vocalist, and Red Skelton, the top-ranking comedian, WLW announced.

A dramatization will recount the quarter-century history of the station which began in 1921 as 8CR, a 20-watt experimental station, and made its first broadcast as licensed WLW March 2, 1922—making it one of the oldest broadcasters in the nation.

Powell Crosley Jr., founder of the station, will speak, as will Niles Trammell, president of the National Broadcasting Co., and James D. Shouse, president of the Crosley Broadcasting Corp., subsidiary of the Aviation Corp. which now operates the station.

Crosley, one of the nation's radio pioneers, sold WLW, other radio and appliance manufacturing interest to Aviation Corporation in 1945 for a reported $21,000,000.

CLEVELAND, March 5—Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton, U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker and other leading national figures join today in the 25th anniversary celebration of WHK, Ohio's "pioneer radio station."

Celebrating a quarter-century of broadcasting, the station scheduled a one-hour show, the "Cavalcade of News and Music," and a luncheon at a downtown hotel.

Claiming to be Ohio's oldest station and the sixth oldest of the country's licensed broadcasters, WHK operated for about three years as an experimental and short-wave station before obtaining a commercial license March 5, 1922.

AGRICULTURE BILL SHAPING

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—Redrafted to eliminate six-year terms for an executive secretary and five division chiefs, a bill overhauling the Ohio department of agriculture was ready today for the legislative hopper.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert last week denounced six-year tenures as originally proposed.

The revamped bill was approved yesterday by the state board of agriculture.

As finally drafted, the executive secretary—who also would be fair manager—would serve at the pleasure of the state agriculture director while the division chiefs would remain in office at the pleasure of the board, following appointment by the director. The bill also provides for an expanded board of 12 members, including a veterinarian. The board's complement now is ten members.

"Unfreeze" Bath's Salary

In effect the reorganization plan, if adopted by the legislature, would "unfreeze" Edwin J. Bath, former Ohio Farm Bureau lobbyist, who was appointed executive secretary by state Director Frank Farnsworth at an $8,800 annual salary. Division chiefs involved would be those named to head foods, dairies, plant industry, animal industry, markets and the state fair.

In one other move, the board requested that the $1,204,000 recently received from the war department for the army's use of the state fair grounds from 1941 to 1945 be applied to a fund "to find and develop a new fair site."

Should the request be disapproved by the state finance director, the money would go to the general fund.

MT. VERNON MAN WAIVES EXAMINATION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—Bloom M. Bruner of Mt. Vernon, O., one of 52 persons indicted at Chicago in a federal investigation of black market sugar transactions, waived examination today before U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon in Columbus.

A wholesale grocer, he posted $5,000 for his appearance in Chicago.

Bruner appeared voluntarily with his attorney, W. Thurman Todd, who also is Knox county prosecutor, following issurance of a bench warrant by the U. S. district court in Chicago.

He returned to Mt. Vernon immediately after his appearance here.

Bruner and five others were charged with conspiracy to transfer 150,000 pounds of sugar illegally from Mt. Vernon warehouses to Chicago. The government alleged that Paul and George Mills of Newark, O., also under indictment, hauled the cargo.

Jerusalem Buzzes Over Movie Theater Holdup

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, March 5—Three armed men held up the cashier of a motion picture theater in downtown Jerusalem shortly after 9 a. m. today and escaped with $800, touching off a flurry of military activity that whipped the city into intense excitement.

The Jerusalem high court meanwhile announced that it had rejected a plea for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent the deportation of 1,378 uncertified Jewish immigrants who were seized aboard a refugee ship off the Palestine coast last week.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, March 5—A nation-wide search for Sylvester Gardiner, 22, Harvard athlete and son of William Tudor Gardiner, former Maine governor, ended yesterday when his body was found in a lagoon of the Charles river. He disappeared Jan. 23.

A medical examiner reported that the former U. S. Army machine gunner obviously crashed through thin ice while skating and drowned.

FRANCE STANDS FIRM ON STRONG GERMANY

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, March 5 — France stood firm today in opposition to the establishment of a strong central German government and declared that she regarded as "premature" any consideration of such a proposal at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting which opens Monday in Moscow.

"France is of the opinion that Germany should be constituted on a federal basis and that its decentralization should be pushed to the utmost limits," the highest French authorities in this four-power capital asserted in answer to an Associated Press questionnaire submitted on the eve of the Moscow conference. "France sees in this decentralization the only possibility offered for development of a democratic spirit in Germany."

Answering an inquiry as to what kind of Germany France envisaged in 10 years as being ideal, the French said:

"The ideal Germany would be a Germany which has abandoned any desire of renewed aggression and one that has no longer the means for it" and then added, parenthically, "(which would be even safer)."

Britain Reduces Navy Manpower 60 Per Cent

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 5—Britain will reduce the Royal Navy 60 per cent this year.

The admiralty announced today, in its budget estimates for 1947-48, that the total number of naval officers, seamen, boys and Royal Marines would be reduced from the 1946-47 maximum of 492,800 to 192,000 during the twelve months beginning April 1.

Coupled with reductions announced earlier this week by the war office and air ministry, the navy slash will bring an overall reduction of about $2,430,000 in the British land, sea and air forces.

As a result of the manpower slash Britain's annual bill for the navy will be reduced from $1,020,300,000 to $786,800,000

POLICY CHANGE BY NLRB SEEN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5—The National Association of Manufacturers said today pending labor legislation in congress has caused the national labor relations board to change its policies.

Raymond S Smethurst, NAM counsel, asserted in a statement prepared for the senate labor committee that recent events indicate the NLRB has become convinced it shoud "amend" the Wagner act "without awaiting action by congress."

But Smethurst said such "non-basic" changes in policy have always been "too little and too late." He asked congress to "deal effectively with basic questions" through legislation.

CIO Vice President Van A Bittner told the house labor committee on the other side of capitol hil that the American people will not "mildly accept" laws "aimed at the destruction of labor unions."

Bittner declared this is the purpose of bills before the committee, which he said are backed by "wartime profiteering groups."

"Whoever seeks to destroy labor is hell-bent on destroying the country," he said in a statement prepared for the house group.

At the senate hearing, Smethurst supported measures to outlaw the closed shop and industry wide bargaining, amend the Wagner act, and eliminate "abuses" by unions.

Smethurst said present labor laws "developed inequalities" between unions and management," "subordinated" the right of individuals to those who "gain control" of unions, increased the public loss from strikes, and led toward government domination of both labor and management."

Bittner contended before the house committee that industrial warfare is caused more by corporation than union leadership.

SCHOOL

be increased from $22.50 per pupil to $27.50, compared with $30 proposed originally.

All eight committee members present voted for the revised bill. It will go to the senate floor in substitute form for an anticipated early decision, although passage may signal rough treatment in the house.

Other Senators Voting

Voting besides Daniels and Cramer were Sens. Margaret A. Mahoney (D-Mahoning), Jack A. Persky (R-Cuyahoga), Tom V. Moorehead (R-Muskingum), John W. Morrison (R-Portage), Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark) and Robert L. Quinn (R-Jefferson). Absent because of illness was Sen. Tom W. Jones (R-Miegs).

Daniels said the $15,000,000 sliced from the bill would lower the cost from $100,000,000 to about $85,000,000 a year. It would be a two-year grant.

Daniels made it clear that he offered his major amendments reluctantly but did so because he feared the measure would not pass unless proposed costs were trimmed.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert had said the original bill would cost so much little money would be left for increases sought by local governments, the welfare department, state employes and others.

Daniels asserted "the money will be available to finance the free public school system in Ohio" under the revised measure. He criticized the Ohio Chamber of Commerce for consistently opposing school subsidy increases.

Unexpended Balances

Sutton asserted 25 per cent of the county boards have unexpended balances which "exceed the cost of county school supervision for an entire year."

Under committee questioning, Sutton said "teachers should have a living wage guaranteed by the legislature to be sure they get it" and then asked "what about the 9,000 to 10,000 other school employes who can and will strike?"

Daniels said he was opposed to teacher strikes because their salaries were paid from taxation. Cramer read a telegram from C. M. Walters of the Ohio School Superintendents association expressing fear that "the growing unrest (among teachers) in other states may spread to Ohio."

Others addressing the hearing were Edward C. Ames, Toledo board of education president, and Joseph Fichter of the Ohio State Grange, who said only about 100 districts would be affected by the tax increase from 3 to 4.5 mills.

The senate education committee also recommended for passage three other school bills. They would:

Prevent teachers from terminating contracts after July 10 of any school year. By Sen. John W Morrison (R-Portage).

Make county board of education members eligible for membership on local boards. By Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark).

Require school district boards to provide bond when collecting money for school banks and allow parochial schools to set up savings accounts. By Sens. Allen N. Corlett (R-Cuyahoga) and Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas).

Illini Favored To Cop Weekend Big Nine Indoor Track Meets

By The Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 5—Illinois, an eye-lash winner in last year's meet, was favored to cop going away in the 37th annual Western conference indoor track championships which will bring a 254-athlete entry to the Illinois armory Friday and Saturday nights.

The Illini, bolstered by most of the stars who last season nipped Michigan, 58½ to 56 5/6, appear capable of rolling up just about as many points again, but this time should finish well ahead of Ohio State, favored as the runner-up.

Coach Leo Johnson of Illinois declared the Buckeyes would be dangerous down to the last event, but the railbirds figured Ohio would have to hustle against one of the largest feilds in conference history to pile up around 45 points.

The show place rated a toss-up between once-powerful Michigan and Wisconsin.

Records May Fall

The well-balanced field may endanger four or five conference records, with the spotlight focusing on Illini Herb McKenley's attempt to crack the 440 record of :48.1 he shares with Bob Ufer of Michigan. The long-striding Jamaican already has been clocked in :48.3 this season without too much pressure.

Another mark almost certain to tumble is the shot put standard of 51 feet, 8⅝ inches held by Will Watson of Michigan since 1939 as two brawny stars, Norm Wasser of Illinois and Chuck Fonville of Michigan battle it out for the title. Both have topped the record, Wasser with a nudge of 53 feet, 7½ inches, and Fonville with 53-6. Minnesota's Fortune Gordien also has topped Watson's mark.

A red hot scrap is brewing in both the 70 low and high hurdles in which defending champion George Walker of Illinois faces Ohio State's Bob Wright, conference record holder and 1942 champion in both events, and Bill Potter of Northwestern, who this season equalled Wright's conference and American indoor high timber record of :08.5.

The Illini are heavily favored in the distance events with Bob Rehberg, NCAA and conference outdoor champion, and John Twomey, who has the season's best time of 4:17.1, entered in the mile and Twomey favored in the two-mile.

Record-Breakers in 2 Events

Besides Wasser, Illinois has potential record-breakers in two other field events—the high jump in which Dwight Eddleman has cleared 6 feet, 6 inches, just one-quarter inch shy of the league mark, and in the pole vault where Bob Richards has sailed 14 feet, an inch and one-eighth under the 10-year-old record held by Wisconsin's Milt Padway.

As per custom the 60 dash will be up for grabs, while in the 880, Rehberg and Ohio State's Mary Whitfield resume a feud dating back to the 1946 outdoor conference meet in which the Illini star edged the Buckeye runner.

In the broad jump, Minnesota's Lloyd Lamoise looms a threat to the record of 24 feet, 2⅝ inches, set last year by Lloyd LaBeach of Wisconsin. Lamoise has shaded 24 feet. Illinois is favored in the mile relay.

Veeck Says Detroit Is Team To Watch in AL

By The Associated Press

LAKELAND, Fla., March 5 — The Detroit Tigers are "definitely the team to watch out for" in the American league pennant race, in the opinion of Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians.

"Maybe the Red Sox stack up a little better than you do now," the club owner told some of the Bengals when paying an unexpected visit to Tiger spring training camp here yesterday, "but as far as Cleveland is concerned, Detroit definitely is the team to watch out for in the pennant chase."

IRISH TANGLE WITH OSTRANDER TONIGHT

Will Play in Tourney Finals If Foot Doesn't Slip.

St. Mary cagers tonight play Ostrander in the Central district class B tournament at Westerville for the right to advance to the finals. This game is scheduled for 8:30 and another semi-final match featuring Columbus Rosary and Granville will start the program at 7:30.

Winners of these matches will play at 8 p. m. Saturday with the victor advancing to regional tourney play at Springfield. The next step is Columbus and state honors.

The Irish are the terror of their division as a result of their showing against Newark St. Francis Saturday. St. Francis was voted one of the top three teams that the tourney had produced. The other two teams sharing this distinction were Grove City and Worthington. All have fallen.

For tonight's game Coach Fetter of St. Mary is planning to use the six-man combination which started functioning smoothly against Tiffin Calvert during the last of the regular season.

Starting will be Bray and Schuler, at the forward posts, Drake at center, and Stuber and Baldauf at the guard positions. Jim Moloney is the sixth man on the roster and fills in capably at forward and center slots. Of this combination only Bray will not be returning next season.

MARYSVILLE KNOCKS SUNBURY FIVE OUT

An old adage that the third time is the charm proved true for Marysville cagers last night as they gained a 27 to 26 victory over Sunbury in the class B tournament at Westerville.

Prior to this game the Delaware county five had twice bested the Union Countians but with Dean Schelderer scoring a bunny in the last 25 seconds Marysville got revenge.

As a result of this game the Monarchs Friday at 8 p. m. will enter finals of their tourney bracket against Plain City which posted a 47 to 30 win over Worthington last night. The third time adage may also work out in this one as during regular season Plain City twice set Marysville down the first time by a didget's margin.

Sunbury and Marysville were also tied for first place in the Mid-State league but this tilt had no bearing on that. In all probability the league will make a provision for co-champions at their next meeting in Marion March 11.

Maynard DeWitt Seen As Rival To Giants' 'Wottaman'

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 5 — The Montreal Royals, Brooklyn's No. 1 farm, are coming up with a "wottaman" who may rival the Giants fabulous Clint Hartung. He's Maynard De Witt, a young outfielder who hails from Prairie Green township (Ind.). Last season he stole 110 bases for Zanesville, O., of the Ohio State league, hit .351 to lead the circuit and made 187 hits and 151 runs for firsts in those departments. According to Jake Pitler, Maynard is the fastest man in the entire Dodger organization, and another expert claims "If he hits the ball on the ground he's safe."

CINCINNATI WINDS UP CAGE YEAR IN STYLE

Whips Butler 61-51 for Share of Championship.

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati's Bearcats wound up their basketball season last night in triumphant style, bagging a share of the mid-American conference championship by dropping Butler's Bulldogs 61 to 51.

The Bearcat victory handed the Indianapolis quintet its second successive M-A setback in as many nights. Ohio U's Bobcats gave the Bulldogs their first league defeat at Athens Monday. Cincinnati and Butler topped the season's league warfare with six wins and two losses each.

The win gave Cincinnati a season's record of 17 victories and nine defeats.

In the Ohio conference, Baldwin Wallace finished a game behind champion Capital, thumping Case 73 to 56, for the Rough Riders 24th straight loss over a two year period. B-W played two games less than Capital within the conference, finishing with a 12-1 record against the Lutherans victorious 14-1.

John Carroll and Wooster came through in two other Ohio conference games with Kent State and Mount Union respectively. John Carroll avenged an earlier defeat, copping 64 to 43 last night while Wooster, with Oberlin still to play, moved into undisputed fifth place in the standings, scoring its 12th conference victory against five losses.

Western Reserve defeated Oberlin, 59 to 42, Findlay closed with a 71 to 54 triumph over Cleveland's Fenn, posting its 15th victory of the year against eight setbacks and Toledo hung up its 18th win against six losses, trouncing Wayne university of Detroit, 71 to 44.

Big Nine Small Fry Football Hits Snag

By The Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 5—The Western conference which hoped to inaugurate 150-pound intercollegiate football next fall may have to mark time in the project.

Big Nine athletic directors who will assemble here with faculty representatives for the league's annual winter parley Thursday through Saturday admit they are stymied in the program for football lads 150 pounds and under.

Their enthusiasm has been dampened by problems of equipment, playing space and lack of experienced personnel in handling varsity midget play which long has been operative in the east.

Such schools as Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Purdue and Ohio State which planned to start 150-pound schedules this year will match notes at the winter sessions to see if it still can be done.

Also on the winter agenda is a review of conference regulations and practices in relation to the so-called "purity" code adopted.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson emphasized that the Big Nine long has had strict rules governing financial aid to athletes and recruiting practices, but he said the conference wanted to examine closely its policies because the NCAA code had been closely identified with that of the Big Nine.

"We want to make sure we are abiding with the letter of the NCAA code as well as the spirit," Wilson said.

Another meeting topic is proposed expansion of junior varsity athletic competition with the possibility of revision of the league code to permit such competition without cost of varsity competition.

Athletic directors will meet tomorrow and jointly on Friday with faculty representatives whose business meeting is scheduled Saturday.

Twenty-nine members of the Notre Dame cage squad are veterans.

JERSEY JOE WALCOTT EYES LOUIS' CROWN

Wants Shot at Champ After Whipping Violent Ray.

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., March 5—New Jersey's Joe Walcott had an eye cocked today toward Joe Louis and the world heavyweight boxing crown.

The veteran Jersey puncher scored a 10-round decision over Elmer (Violent) Ray last night in the first all-Negro fight card ever held in the Orange bowl and immediately set his sights on worthier prey.

A crowd of 8,077 saw the Jersey jolter knock Ray down in the first, third and fourth rounds and successfully shoulder aside a last-round flurry by the Hastings, Fla., slugger.

Walcott weighed 192½; Ray, 194¾.

Wrestles Mystery Man Thursday

Another double main event card will feature the weekly wrestling matches Thursday at the Marion Armory. Rufus Jones the rough head-butting gent from New York, has signed to meet the equally rough Masked Mystery Man in one of the ninety minute matches. Both matches are for the best two out of three falls. Rufus has appeared here many times and each time has showed that he could give plenty of punishment as well as take it. Last Thursday the masked grappler gave the impression to the fans that he likes to rough it up.

The other main event should be one of the most colorful seen here for it will pit the Jap, Duke Keomuka, with the Mexican Indian, Indio Yaqui. This should be a fast, clever match as both grapplers on previous matches have wrestled that way.

A tag team match between Jack Millington and Dick Merton against the team of Don Temple and Bob White will be the twenty minute opener at 8:30. This is another outstanding program so order your ringside seats early at the new store of Markert & Lewis. No advance in prices.—Adv.

Hardin Co. Farmer Stricken Near Kenton

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 5 — George Dorn, 77, prominent Hardin county farmer, died suddenly at 8:45 a. m. Tuesday of a heart attack while visiting his farm.

Although he had retired from farming several years ago, Mr. Dorn, who lived in Kenton, kept an active interest in his farm which he managed. He was an elder in the Presbyterian church of Kenton and a member of Wolf Creek Grange.

His wife, the former Katherine Rummell, preceded him in death several years ago, as did four sisters and two brothers.

He is survived by two daughters, Miss Helen Dorn of Newark and Mrs. Elizabeth Elbert of Kenton and one son, Arthur, of Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at the Price funeral home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

OLGA'S description of Mary's moody fits and staring into space, as related by the sanitarium physician, had not shaken me as severely as it had the regal woman whom Mary fondly dubs "my darling step mamma-in-law."

But I know Mary better than she did. I had read the vehement but humorous telegram she had sent us, and I had seen the tremendous physical improvement in her. And I knew that Dicky's resourceful niece was perfectly capable of "putting on an act" for the sanitarium attendants in the hope that she would get back the volumes of plays which they had taken away from her.

The secret of Mary's relapse was associated somewhere with those volumes of plays, I was sure of that, and a fantastic conjecture flashed into my mind. It was one which I could not possibly broach to Olga, however. Indeed, I knew that I must not even tell Dicky about it. If my conjecture were correct, it was a secret which Mary frantically was trying to keep, and I must wait until she told me about it of her own free will.

Banishes the Thought

So I firmly banished both conjecture and my very real worry about Mary from my mind as I opened the door and admitted the waiter with the tea service.

He deftly put the big tray on the table I indicated, and I tipped him and sent him away.

"We will serve ourselves," I told him, putting my huge tea cosy over the large pot of tea they had sent up, and turning to Olga as I closed the door.

"What shall I tell Mary from you?" I asked.

"Tell her that Philip is very angry, but that I am sure I can bring him around," she said. "And tell her that she can count on me for anything. I want her to feel that I am a real mother to her."

But when I went into the bathroom to summon Mary, I found her in a rebellious mood.

"I already have one perfectly good mother," she said hugging me. "I've never known the lack of one since you came into my life."

"I am humbly grateful to you for saying that, dearest," I told her. "Nevertheless—"

"I know. I'm a first class heel. Oh, you didn't even intimate it, but me, I know it. Olga always has been perfectly sweet to me and, you notice, I call her Mother. That doesn't clash with anybody. Olina calls her Maman, and you're always my own darling Auntie Madge. Come on, let's get to the tea. You'll see I'll be on my very best behavior."

Heart Is Heavy

But my heart was heavy with foreboding as I led the way back to the sitting room. Her eyes were too bright, her manner to feverish, the color over her cheek bones, above her clever make-up was too high. Whatever was secretly troubling her was of major importance, I told myself. I must let everything else go until I solved it.

But, I reminded myself, I could not let the play go. The finishing of that appeared to be an obsession with her.

It looked like a stone wall of incredible height and thickness. But—I took a deep breath—I need not climb or breach it today. By the time our tea was finished, Mary would have to get down to her apartment in order to welcome Noel, and I should have to coach her—I had a shrewd guess that she would welcome my tutelage—on the version of her sudden return to be told Noel. I was leaving his father in Olga's clever hands.

Olga was standing in the center of the room as we entered, and a quick glance told me that Mary's tell-tale telegram on the table had been shoved under a magazine, only a corner showing to tell me its disposition. And then the former queen of Transvania, with a regal but warmly maternal gesture, swept her stepson's wife into her arms.

'My dear, dear girl!" she was saying "Welcome home!"
